

Mainland Baritone-Tenor

After much thinking, I have decided to sell my NEW Mainland Baritone ukulele that is strung as a GCEA Tenor, but an octave lower than a standard soprano, concert or tenor ukulele. Here is a link to Stu Fuchs showing and describing a baritone strung as a tenor - www.youtube.com/watch?v=3sBFha_wTJU. This is a really good demo and explanation.

Why am I selling this Mainland Baritone-Tenor? — The idea sounds great. Then I heard Tom S's baritone-tenor. I liked it, was intrigued and bought a brand new one from Mainland Ukes. And, great sound, but not "my sound." I really like soprano, concert and tenor ukes tuned to the normal GCEA. So, this new baritone-tenor just sits. Sad for a good ukulele!

Condition — New! What can I say. It is brand new, played only a handful of times. So, a new ukulele, but without a warranty at a huge discount.

Price: $225 - includes 2 strap buttons and soft gig bag.

Name: Tony Anthonisen

E-mail: tcuker@icloud.com

Tom S. says to remind everyone that if you really want a baritone tuned as a baritone, this Mainland it can be strung DGBE so it is a conventional baritone.

Classic Mahogany Baritone

$339.50

★★★★☆1 Review

Finish

Gloss

Tuners

Sealed Gold w/ Amber Buttons

Ukulele cases (optional)

Ukulele Gig Bag (+$19.95)

Strings (optional)

Guadalupe Custom Baritone Strings low GCEA (full octave lower)

Strap button (optional)

2 Strap Buttons

Quantity

1

Subtotal $359.45

- Our Classic Mahogany Baritone series:
- Solid Mahogany wood construction
 - Mahogany neck, Rosewood fingerboard, and Bridge
 - Width at the nut is 38mm
 - Matte or Gloss finish
 - Genuine bone nut and saddle
 - Set up with Guadalupe custom Strings, standard DGBE tuning.
 - Sealed gear tuners